

CIP4 Confluence

Welcome to the technical website of our Confluence System. As you see we have changed our system infrastructure. You can find a short introduction into the new infrastructure on the page How To's

The new environment is aimed to make CIP4's work more efficient through better collaboration and complete transparency. Confluence is the place where we can share information, organize work group meetings and CIP4 Interops, manage questions, make decisions and much more. Atlassian Confluence is very powerful and easy to use application. Further, many companies already use Confluence as well. So, many users should be already familiar with the application.

With the relaunch we also decided to bring CIP4 closer to non-members. Everyone who is registered in the CIP4 Organization and its technologies is able to register now. Each registered user can become a "CIP4 Visitor". Visitors are allowed to access the Work Group Spaces, subscribe to blogs, create JIRA issues, ask questions in Confluence Questions and more.

Rainer Prosi posted on Feb 15, 2018

The Bologna Interop is approaching rapidly - see Interop 34: Bologna, Italia. If you haven't registered yet, please do so soon.

Note also that we have a straw poll at the bottom of the registration page due to some opening hours issues with our anticipated social event venue.

JDF 1.6 and XJDF Release Candidates #2 are available for review

Rainer Prosi posted on Feb 14, 2018

The second release candidates for JDF and XJDF are available for review at JDF and XJDF.

There are currently no open issues in JIRA and these release candidates are anticipated to be very, very close to the final specification versions. Please create issues in JIRA for any typographical or editorial issues that you may find. Technical issues will not be addressed outside of an errata workflow which is still to be discussed at the Bologna interop.

The final publication is scheduled for the end of February 2018.
